TO BE PUBLISHED, OCTOBER 30TH.

THE LAST FOUR MONTHS

By Major-General SIR FREDERICK MAURICE, G.C.M.G., C.B.

With Two Maps, Cloth. Price, 7s. 6d. net.

This noteworthy book by Gen. Sir Frederick Maurice explains the strategy of the opposing Generalissimos, and makes clear the moves of the forces which brought defeat to the Germans and triumph to the Allies. The reader sees that the entire front from the North Sea to Switzerland was involved in this final phase of the great struggle.

TO BE PUBLISHED ON NOVEMBER 13TH.

AS A TALE THAT IS TOLD (Reflections of Many Years)

By FREDERIC W. MACDONALD.

(Ex-President of the Wesleyan Conference.) With a Photogravure Frontispiece. Price 10s. 6d. net.

"The Rev. Frederic W. Macdonald has told the story of his long and busy life in a volume that will be read with profit and delight, not only by his fellow-Methodists, but by thoughtful readers of every kind. Mr. Macdonald's judgments are throughout generous and kindly. He writes of men from whom he was sometimes sharply divided, but he sets down nothing that can hurt or wound. And he is loyal—loyal to his friends, loyal to the Church and faith of his fathers."—Manchester Guardian.

TO BE PUBLISHED IN NOVEMBER.

MORE SEA FIGHTS OF THE GREAT WAR (Including the Battle of Jutland)

By W. L. WYLLIE, R.A., C. OWEN, and W. D. KIRKPATRICK.

180 pages text. With 24 Plates in Colour, 28 in Black and White by W. L. WYLLIE. Cloth, crown 4to, 15s. net.

The great success of Mr. Wyllie's "Sea Fights," which dealt with the first nine months of the Naval part of the Great War, justifies this further volume, which relates to the second year of the War. The Battle of Jutland figures, of course, very largely in the story, and now that the censorship does not operate Mr. Wyllie will have much to tell that has hitherto been suppressed. All his pictures of the great fight are based on descriptions given him by officers who actually participated in the engagement.

TO BE PUBLISHED OCTOBER 30TH.

ANIMAL LIFE UNDER WATER

By FRANCIS WARD, M.D., F.Z.S.

With 4 Coloured Plates and 48 Half-tone Illustrations. Large crown 8vo, cloth, 7s. 6d. net.

Under-Water Natural History Photography in "Marvels of Fish Life," by Dr. Francis Ward, has been carried a step—or rather several steps—farther, and the results obtained are presented in this new volume. Whereas the first efforts were confined to recording the ways of fish under their normal conditions of life, these studies extend to diving birds and animals that prey upon fish for their food. We are now shown these creatures under the water, that is to say, from the fish's point of view. It is shown how it is possible for a diving bird or beast to approach until it is right over its prey before the victim is aware of its presence, and how protective coloration operates in a manner not hitherto touched upon by naturalists.

TO BE PUBLISHED OCTOBER 23RD.

CASSELL'S NEW ENGLISH DICTIONARY,

Edited by E. A. BAKER, M.A., D.Litt.

1,315 pages. (Director of the University of London School of Librarianship.) 6s. net.

Cassell's have always been favourably known for their dictionaries. The present volume will certainly add to their reputation for this class of work. It is an entirely new compilation, and not a mere reissue or new edition of any existing book. It is claimed that for its size and price it is more comprehensive, more up to date, and more conveniently arranged than any English Dictionary yet published.

BY THE AUTHOR OF "THE MIDDLE YEARS," &c.

THE YEARS OF THE SHADOW
KATHARINE TYNAN. 15s. net.
Punch.—". . . As a companion for a solitary hour, with the printed word to take the place of a pleasantly discursive voice, Mrs. Hinkson's year-books could hardly be bettered. And often she has some illuminating thing to say about the men and women who called out what has clearly been a genius for friendship. As for good stories, you will not be disappointed in the reasonable expectation of a score of them."

COMMERCE AND INDUSTRY
Edited by WILLIAM PAGE. With a Preface by Sir WILLIAM ASHLEY. Vol. I. (Historical Review). 32s. net. Vol. II. (Statistical Tables), 24s. net.
Chamber of Commerce Journal.—"Those interested in the reconstruction of British commerce and industry will undoubtedly find these two volumes of great value to them."
Lloyd's List.—"This book will be widely read and the statistical tables carefully studied. They are food for thought."

NOTES OF A CAMP FOLLOWER
By E. W. HORNUNG. 6s. net.
The Westminster Gazette.—". . . an admirable picture of the fine work that has been done in the Y.M.C.A. huts and of men by whom they were so much appreciated."
The Times Literary Supplement.—"Those first three days of the great offensive live again in Mr. Hornung's pages . . . those who spent anxious hours in doomed Arras will read his account with fascination."

YASHKA: My Life as Peasant, Exile, and Soldier
By MARIA BOTCHKAREVA, Commander of the Russian Women's Battalion of Death, as set down by dictation by Isaac Don Levine, Author of "The Russian Revolution." 8s. 6d. net.
The Guardian.—"Among all the remarkable records of the War there can have been none more remarkable than the story of the life of Maria Botchkareva. . . . The story is extraordinary in its force and interest, in its revelation of a unique personality, a noble and self-sacrificing character, and one of the most devoted patriots of history."

NEW 6s. FICTION NOW READY.

THE LAIRD OF GLENFERNIE
MARY JOHNSTON, Author of "The Old Dominion," etc.
Punch.—"Miss Johnston has given us a story both original and graceful. Her gift of phrase has seldom shown to happier advantage."

Messrs Bell's New Books

The Mastery of the Far East

By Arthur J. Brown.—A fascinating book in which is set forth the story of the struggle between Russia, China, and Japan, for supremacy in the Far East, and of the elimination of an old and interesting people, the Koreans, It is full of interesting side-lights on oriental habits and mentality. Illustrated. 684 pp., demy 8vo., 25s. net.

The Expansion of Europe

A History of the Foundations of the Modern World

By W. C. Abbott, B.Litt. (Oxon), M.A.—who by judicious selection has avoided the tedium and dryness so often associated with historical studies, and written a book which is at once dynamic, intelligible, and throughout 800 pages of never-failing interest. With 45 Maps and 55 Illustrations. 2 vols., demy 8vo., 30s. net.

Fifty Years of Europe, 1870-1919

By Prof. C. D. Hazen, author of "Europe since 1815," &c.—who gives a comprehensive survey of the period of German ascendancy in Europe, and of the many fateful events and changes which during these fifty years inevitably led up to the catastrophe of 1914. His book ends with a vivid sketch of the Great War. Demy 8vo., with 14 Maps. 14s. net. [Ready Oct. 27.

Victorian Recollections

By John Bridges—is a veritable treasury of pleasant memories, especially to be welcomed as a relief from the stress and anxiety of present-day conditions. Mr. Bridges has much to tell of those more spacious days—of Eton and Oxford as he saw them—of the rural life of England, with its genial hierarchy of parson, doctor, and squire—of the New World in the fifties; of the politics and sport, the work and recreations of Victorian years. Large Post 8vo., 8s. 6d. net. [Shortly.

A Short History of French Literature

By W. H. Hudson—with Memoir of the Author and Portrait. The "Saturday Review" says:—"Short as this little history professes to be and is . . . it would be difficult to find a more complete one of its kind. It is not too much to call it a masterpiece." Crown 8vo., 6s. net.

The Clouds of Aristophanes

Translated into Corresponding English Metres

By Benjamin Bickley Rogers, M.A., Hon. D.Litt.—This reissue of Dr. Rogers' famous translations should appeal to all who enjoyed Prof. Gilbert Murray's "Euripides," to which these volumes will make suitable companions. "The Wasps" is in the press, and others will follow shortly. Crown 8vo., Paper, 2s. net. Cloth, 3s. 6d. net.

Self-Government in Industry

By G. D. H. Cole, author of "The World of Labour." A fourth edition, revised, and with a new Introductory Essay, of a book which THE NATION describes as "indispensable to every student of social institutions, and every citizen who is thinking about the kind of society that will develop from the catastrophe of the War." Crown 8vo., 5s. net.

THE LIFE AND MIRACLES OF ANTONIO CONSELHEIRO.

By R. B. CUNNINGHAME GRAHAM. 10s. 6d. net.

The amazing story of Antonio Conselheiro, half cow-boy, half mystic, the last of the Gnostics, who defied all Brazilian forces for years until he was eventually slain with all his little band.

SELECTIONS from SWINBURNE

Edited by EDMUND GOSSE, C.B., and T. J. WISE. 6s. net.

A more representative selection of poems than the only one hitherto made (by Watts-Dunton in 1887). It is hoped that this one will satisfy the poet's admirers and lead others to the complete editions of his work.

CONTEMPORARIES OF SHAKESPEARE.

By A. C. SWINBURNE. 7s. 6d. net.

A collection of essays by the great poet on the Elizabethan dramatists—part of the material is published for the first time.

APPRECIATIONS OF POETRY.

By LAFCADIO HEARN. 15s. net.

"The sensitive lover of poetry will rapidly surrender to Hearn's gift of going straight to the heart of a poem."—Manchester Guardian.

SOME DIVERSIONS OF A MAN OF LETTERS

By EDMUND GOSSE, C.B. 7s. 6d. net.

"The veteran critic retains that suave detachment which calls up an image of Montaigne. . . . In this volume Mr. Gosse has still the fine manner of the great Frenchman."—Morning Post.

Two Christmas Books.

CINDERELLA.

Illustrated in Silhouette by ARTHUR RACKHAM. Re-told by C. S. EVANS. 7s. 6d. net.

In the present version of the most popular of all fairy stories the author has amplified the story without doing violence to tradition—it is told very simply and in all the detail which children love.

Mr. Rackham's drawings, with the exception of the frontispiece, which is in colour, are in silhouette, a delightful art of which he is a master.

PROFESSOR MOORMAN (The late).

PLAYS OF THE RIDINGS (An All Souls' Night's Dream; Potter Thompson; The Ewe Lamb.) Cr. 8vo, Cloth, 3s. 6d. net; wrappers, 2s. 6d. net

NOTE BY THE AUTHOR.—This volume of Yorkshire dialect plays is meant to be a sequel to the volume of dialect verse, entitled "Songs of the Ridings," published a year ago. The Author's former purpose was to furnish poems which might be read in the cottage and recited or sung at social gatherings of the people. The appeal now is to the peasant or artisan actor, in the hope that it may do something to quicken an interest in dramatic art.

Not the Big Four

but four fine books big with ideas

BY HERBERT TREMAINE

TWO MONTHS

A Novel, 7s. net, postage 4d.

"The story cannot but enhance its author's reputation."—The Scotsman.

"We can recommend the book for its character studies, which in every instance ring true."—Pall Mall Gazette.

The Herald praises the book and speaks of its "vividness," "remorseless veracity" and "impartial sympathy of view."

The HANDMAIDENS of DEATH

A one-act Play, 1s. net, postage 2d.

This is a tragedy and satire of munition-making; a modern etching of five women and five men, the industrial and the supernatural, a mingling of the tragic and the grotesque. It is not only a parable, but a study of individual modern characters.

The Feet of the Young Men

A Novel, 4s. net, paper cover 2s. 6d. net, postage 3d.

The Times.—"Mr. Tremaine . . . does not allow his opinions to distort his picture, nor subject the art of fiction to propaganda."

The New Statesman.—"The simplest, sanest art."

The Wide Garden and other Poems

3s. 6d. net, postage 2d.

The Nation says:—"Mr. Tremaine is a novelist whose book 'The Feet of the Young Men' was approved by the enemies of its principles. And the severest criticisms must . . . be disarmed by his poems."

BOOKS FOR THESE TIMES

THE FOOL NEXT DOOR &c

By Ex-Tram Conductor No. 317 (N. D. Douglas)

2s. net, paper wrappers; 3s. 6d. net, cloth bound, postage 3d.

The author of this unusual book was for a short time a tram-conductor, but the interest of his poems, play, stories and essays does not depend upon that. Indeed, he has also been a University student, a journalist, and a dividend-drawer. Originality is the note of this book.

THE FIGHT FOR FREEDOM

A Play in four Acts by DOUGLAS GOLDRING

2s. net, cloth 3s. 6d. net, postage 3d.

This is the first volume of a new series of "Plays for a People's Theatre." (Ready Shortly.)

FACTORY ECHOES & Other Sketches

By R. M. FOX :: :: 1s.6d. net, postage 2d.

These sketches took shape in the workshop amid the rattle and roar of machinery. It is life, pulsating, surging, calling for expression which is portrayed in them.

HOW TO LENGTHEN OUR EARS. An inquiry whether learning from books does not lengthen the ears rather than the understanding. By Viscount Harberton, 5s. net, postage 4d. "No one could support the sweeping charges against all reading while holding Lord Harberton's little book in the hand."—Pall Mall Gazette.

LOGIC TAUGHT BY LOVE. By M. E. Boole, 2s. 6d. net, cloth 5s. net, postage 4d. A set of remarkable articles, chiefly on the light thrown on each other by Jewish ritual and modern science.

THE SLAVERY OF OUR TIMES. By Leo. Tolstoy, 1s. 3d. net, postage 2d. An indictment of the present order and a consideration of some proposed reforms.

DANIEL AND THE MACCABEES. An ancient book for modern use. By the Rev. Edwyn B. Hooper, M.A., with foreword by Dr. E. L. Hicks (Bishop of Lincoln), 2s. net, cloth 3s. 6d. net, postage 3d.

HANDED OVER. The Prison Experiences of J. Scott Duckers, Solicitor, of Chancery Lane, under the Military Service Act, written by himself. 1s. 6d. net, postage 2d. "It deserves much credit for the genial and fair-minded temper in which it is written."—Times Lit. Supp.

THE UNFINISHED PROGRAMME OF DEMOCRACY.

By RICHARD ROBERTS.

Author of "Personality and Nationality," "The Church in the Commonwealth," etc.

 What is the matter with Democracy? This volume is an attempt to diagnose the ills that affect it, and to propound a remedy. The remedy for the troubles of Democracy, the author believes, is more Democracy, and then some more; and an attempt is made to indicate the pathway of the pacific evolution of the democratic principle.

LIPPINCOTT'S NEW BOOKS

The Practical Book of Interior Decoration

By HAROLD DONALDSON EBERLEIN, ABBOT McCLURE, AND EDWARD STRATTON HOLLOWAY. Profusely illustrated. Quarto. Decorated cloth in a box, 30s. net.

In the first part of this book the authors have given a picture of the art of interior decoration as practised in England, Italy, Spain, and France since the beginning of the Sixteenth Century—The Renaissance, Baroque, Rococo, and Neo-Classsic systems, with American modifications of British usage during the Colonial and early Republican periods. The second part makes the direct application to modern requirements of the lessons to be drawn from the history of decoration, emphasizing principles; and the third part offers for the first time a logical system of decoration which avoids the narrow limitations of the one-period method and equally the pitfalls of eclectic furnishing.

A Gentle Cynic — The Omar Khayyam of the Bible Being the Book of Ecclesiastes

By MORRIS JASTROW, Jr., Ph.D., LL.D. Author of "The War and the Bagdad Railway," &c. Small 4to. 9s. net.

A delightfully human book on the Omar Khayyam of the Bible with an exact translation of the original text. How it came to be written and who wrote it (and it was not Solomon), why additions were made to the original text and the whole interesting story is here given. A delightful exposition of that "uncomfortable interrogation mark," the first author who wrote under a nom de plume.

The True La Fayette

By GEORGE MORGAN. Author of "The True Patrick Henry." 24 illustrations. Crown 8vo. 10s. 6d. net.

"La Fayette, we are here!" General Pershing's quiet speech at the tomb of the friend of America meant that the three millions of Americans in Pershing's army were ready to pay our debt to France, and to carry on La Fayette's struggle for human rights and freedom. This is a true story of a man who won world fame at nineteen, added to it through nearly fifty years, and still leads the hosts of freemen towards democracy.

The Fine Art of Photography

By PAUL L. ANDERSON. Frontispiece in colour and 24 other illustrations. Crown 8vo. 12s. 6d. net.

Photography has proved a new medium in the fine arts, with which rare results have been achieved. The underlying principles of art, as these can be applied to photography, are now formulated and illustrated in this stimulating and inspiring book.

Airplane Photography

By HERBERT E. IVES. Major in charge of Experimental Department, Photographic Branch, Air Service, U.S.A. About 210 illustrations. Octavo. 8s. 6d. net.

Aeroplane photography was developed to meet the exigencies of the war, to a remarkable point. This survey of that development, covering every phase of apparatus and production, by an officer in this branch of the service, will be of wide interest, since aerial photography has an important field offering great opportunities in peace time. A practical manual.

A History of the Theatre in America

By ARTHUR HORNBLOW. Editor of the "Theatre Magazine." Author of "Training for the Stage," &c. 175 illustrations. 2 volumes. Octavo. 35s. net.

A complete chronological narrative of the growth and development of the theatre of this country, showing how the drama first took root in North America, and a chain of theatres were gradually built, first along the Atlantic seaboard, then pressing their adventurous way westward until they reached the Pacific Ocean. This is the first history of the stage in America which embraces the entire field from the earliest beginning down to the present time.

NEW NOVELS

The Soul of Ann Rutledge

The Story of Abraham Lincoln's Romance.

By BERNIE BABCOCK. Frontispiece in colour by Gayle Hoskins. 6s. net.

This remarkable novel, based upon the true story of Abraham Lincoln's early love affair, revives in the pioneer setting of the times, one of the rarest and most exquisite love stories in history. The story of Lincoln's romance has never before been told.

Sir Gilbert Parker, M.P., writes:—

"The Soul of Ann Rutledge" came yesterday, and I read it through with the deepest interest. I predict for this book a big popularity. . . . It is Sentimental, but it is human, and its sketches of character throughout the book are admirable. It is a good picture of life in the days when Lincoln lived. The character of Ann is drawn with great charm and delicacy, and Lincoln is seen at his best. I hope and believe that the book will have a prodigious sale. It overcomes one. I scarcely know why. I wonder if it is the infinite interest one feels in the character of Lincoln, of whom I've always been an intense admirer. It stifles all criticism."

The Diamond Pin

By CAROLYN WELLS. Frontispiece in colour by Gayle Hoskins. 6s. net.

Fleming Stone, the Sherlock Holmes of American Fiction, the irrepressible "Fibsy," and the lovely Iris Clyde, become involved in a curious and inexplicable mystery—the outcome of a practical joke played by a whimsical old lady. Love, humour, mystery, all play their parts in this clever story.

The Red Signal

By GRACE LIVINGSTON HILL (LUTZ). Frontispiece in colour. 6s. net

A real American girl outwits a band of spies and agents for destruction in this country. It is a breathless and exciting yarn. Perhaps the finest touch is the heroine's gradual forgetfulness of self and safety as she realises how her country can be saved.
